Maj. General L. C. Jaynes, USA, ret., who resigned a commission to enter the Tank Corps as a private and make the long move from private to general, told the Tankers Friday evening at the closing dinner of their reunion in the Hotel Gettysburg that "it is much easier in most respects to prepare for war than to prepare for peace."

"War is definite," Jaynes said. "Its dimensions visible, its tasks self-evident. In war everyone is friend or foe. A great unity of purpose envelops us. Every other consideration yields to the one overriding purpose of winning the war."

"To attain peace on the other hand, we must fight apathy, ambition, fear, jealousy, suspicion. Energies are relaxed. Danger may seem remote and time not pressing. We must correctly measure and vigorously counteract the appeals the Kremlin makes to the so-called neutrals, especially in Asia."

400 MARYLAND SYNOD YOUTH GATHER HERE

Four hundred fifty-seven young men and women, aged from 12 to 21, gathered here Friday for the 37th annual convention of the Maryland Lutheran Synod Youth League.

The weekend sessions began Friday evening with a vesper service in Christ Chapel on the Gettysburg College campus with the Rev. Dr. Raymond J. Seeger, Washington, D. C., deputy assistant director of mathematical, physical and engineering sciences of the National Science Foundation and adjunct professor of mathematical physics at American University, as the keynote speaker. He has as his topic "The Dimensions of Life."

Miss Cynthia A. Smith, Washington, president of the Lutheran League, opened the convention. Rev. Henry Wolgemuth, pastor of St. Luke's Church, Silver Spring, was liturgist. David Dash, Baltimore, served as organist.

Following the service a campfire was held at the college under direction of Ronnie Couchman, Hagerstown, recreation chairman.

This morning business sessions of the convention, which will close Monday afternoon, began with Miss Merle Miller, Baltimore, Christian vocation chairman, in charge of devotions.

Business included adoption of the convention program, report of the credentials committee, report of officers, report of the nominating committee, report of the Maryland Synodical caravaning committee and report of the Synodical executive committee.

Will Elect Today
The group divided at 10:45 this morning for theme presentation, the intermediates remaining in Christ Chapel where Rev. Roland A. Ries, Baltimore, director of parish education and youth work for the Maryland Synod, spoke on "Getting Along With Your Family." The seniors adjourned to the SCA auditorium where Dr. Seeger gave a talk on "What Do The Stars Tell About God?"

This afternoon election of officers and the report of the budget committee is scheduled. Ray Ueberroth, Lutheran League of America representative, will speak. Devotions will be conducted by Barbara Carback, Thurmont, evangelism chairman.

TOMATO JUICE PRODUCTION AT CHM HITS PEAK

Full production on tomato juice at the C. H. Musselman Company's Biglerville plant was attained this week when a second shift was added. Both will operate to capacity over the weekend. Tomato operations started the middle of August and will continue throughout most of September.

Peak of the season is expected a week or two earlier than other years, according to Donald E. Horst, horticulturist. "Planting a greater percentage of early bearing varieties of tomatoes has moved the peak of the season ahead and reduced the danger of exposure to late September frosts and cool weather," he stated. "The finished product is high in quality and color."

The principal product in the Musselman operation is tomato juice packed in a variety of can sizes with tomato puree as the by-product.

Federal Inspection
Tomatoes are purchased under federal-state inspection at $34 per ton for U. S. 1 and $22 per ton for U. S. 2. They are received from three counties. The company has regularly operated a receiving station at Red Lion for York County growers and this year a new station was opened at Millersville for growers in Lancaster County.

Based on reports by USDA on acreage planted throughout the nation, pre-season production was indicated as almost one-third larger than last year and greater by about the same amount over the average for the preceding ten years. However, estimates on yields in some areas are steadily declining as the season progresses due to excessive rains and lack of sunshine in many tomato producing areas.

Lack of sunshine with corresponding loss of heat units for effective ripening has been the greatest deterrent in local areas. However, reasonable yields are expected and growers are optimistic for a better than "break-even" year.

FORMER LOCAL BARBER GIVEN PRISON TERM

Edmond Trostle, Hanover, former Gettysburg barber, was sentenced to one and one-half to three years in the Allegheny County workhouse on two charges of contributing to the delinquency of a minor in Adams County Court today. It was stated one of the juveniles is an expectant mother.

Manuel Marrero, 22, Gettysburg, Puerto Rican laborer, was sentenced to from two and one-half to five years in the Eastern penitentiary after he had entered a plea of guilty to charges of attempt to kill, attempt to maim, pointing a gun, aggravated assault and battery, and carrying a gun without a license.

Marrero was said by police to have been drinking at the Dorsey-Stanton American Legion Post Home on E. High St. and was ordered by a bartender, after he became noisy, to sit down and become quiet. Borough policeman Raymond Menges told the court that Marrero then left the Legion Home and returned in about 15 minutes carrying an automatic 22 calibre pistol. Menges said that Marrero shot at the feet of a woman patron and told the group, startled by the shot, that he meant business. Menges said that Marrero then shot at James Mauston, Gettysburg, as the latter sought to hide under the bar. The bullet struck Mauston in the left thigh.

Shot Second Man
Another bullet struck Raymond Pequeora in the left leg, penetrating to the bone. Several other shots, Menges said, were found imbedded in the walls at about a height of three feet. The officers said that on the night of the shooting, Marrero had been allowed to return to the Legion for the first time after having been expelled two weeks previously for causing trouble with a knife.

Marrero told the court he knew why he got a gun and went to the Legion but said he would not state the reason.

State Policeman James A. Treas said that he and other officers, on complaints received by the district attorney, went to the fair, observed the age of the youths attending the performance of a "girlie" show, then attended a performance and found it "lewd and obscene from the word go." They remained for a first and second show for which an additional admission was charged after they had entered the tent.

Usher served as the Barker for the show. He said he and Mrs. Usher had been married 14 years and normally presented a deep sea monster and snake show and presented a girlie show only when there was a need for such a show. They had been at the Adams County Fair for the last three years. They said they would never again put on a girlie show and Judge W. C. Sheely, before sentencing, said, "I feel reasonably certain they will never do so here again."

Police said tools, valued at $79.75, and a small table-model radio, that Fleishman had stolen from the factory, had been recovered. Fleishman is married and the father of four children, the oldest of whom is eight years.

The court said it would consider a parole after Zumbur has made restitution for the $3,000 damage to Helwig's vehicle.

Whenever you chance to wrong someone . . . by word or by deed . . . bear in mind that you may cause . . . an aching heart to bleed . . . If you are one who like to wear . . . drab frowns instead of smiles . . . count yourself as guilty . . . of charting rugged miles . . . If you are prone to gossip . . . and spread a wicked lie . . . although you may be unaware . . . you help someone to die . . . perhaps the lines I write may strike . . . a somewhat sour note . . . yet none will ever question . . . the truth of words I wrote . . . the moral to this poem . . . is not so hard to find . . . do something good each day you live . . . and benefit mankind.

ESSENTIALS IN EDUCATION

European Curriculums Not Valid In U.S.A.; America's Tech Education Is Still Tops

JOHN STICKLEPATH dropped in for one of his perennial visits. As usual he was en route home from his annual trip to Europe. He always arrives without warning and leaves the same way.

Years ago, from an uncle who struck it rich in the Rockies, he inherited a barrel of dinero and the key to a Denver lock box choked with securities. Thus he can afford to worry more about his impressions from travels than he does about harsh facts.

For this reason a mutual friend of ours always refers to John as "our beloved dilettante in intellectualism."

Before I had time to comment on the exotic band around his European, gift cigar, he began diletanting.

"Why can't our schools do the job they do in Europe? Take languages, for example. Their high school graduates often speak two languages in addition to their own!"

HE DID NOT know it, but he had led with his intellectual chin on that one. Our schools do not do the job they do in Europe for the simple reason that America is a different country and requires a different educational job.

Languages are a necessity in Europe. In America the same languages are highly desirable but are nevertheless a mental luxury for all Americans except for students in Mexican border states. And these states find it makes for better citizenship for the Mexicans to learn English. Citizenship is a school job.

IN EUROPE the situation is quite different. In Belgium a high school lad who could not speak three languages could not qualify for so much as a file clerk in a produce house, not to mention salesman or a bank employee.

The Swiss have to know three languages (German, Italian and French) to be able to converse with all other Swiss citizens. They have to speak English equally well to get their share of the tourist dollar.

There are three language barriers between Lisbon and Barcelona, a few hours ride on a fast train. A sharp, Spanish business man will speak all three fluently. With these three tongues he cannot handle anything more complex than a restaurant menu throughout the remainder of all Europe.

Every Englishman or Scotsman who expects to do anything that takes him beyond his home town necessarily masters one or more foreign tongues. The same is true in France and Germany.

Many Irish duck the language issue by emigrating to America or taking jobs in Glasgow or England. But if they remain in Ireland and expect to get anywhere in a business or profession, they must master Gaelic, if for no other reason than to prove their patriotic love for the Auld Sod.

BUT NO ONE ever wins an argument with John Sticklepath. His principal charm, if we overlook his superb cigars, is his capacity for arguing by asking new questions.

"They beat us in the Sputnik race, didn't they? American college and high school teachers everywhere admit it, don't they? To improve the situation, all of you are asking for more and more millions, aren't you? And to regain the lead in missiles, I hope you get it," he added.

IN TRUTH, American educators and industry knew there was a grave shortage in scientific and technological fields. They were asking for millions for technology six years before there was a Sputnik.

The Russian success with one scientific stunt merely gave many educators a good chance to dramatize a situation they had been hollering about all along. Some have overdone it.

But this shortage was not entirely due to the schools and colleges. Some indiscriminate draft policies through World War II and after have been harmful.

Furthermore, the quality of our schools and colleges is such that they have given America the most advanced and most widely envied technological advances in history. Nowhere is the envy greater than in Europe.

I further unfurled the flag and reminded John that American technology has made the productivity of our workers the highest in the world and at the same time has removed drudgery from the factories. It has made our deserts bloom and has made gentlemen rather than peasants of our farmers. No nation or group of nations can rival our marvelous system of communications and transportation, both public and private.

A FIRST SPUTNIK like a first swallow proves nothing. . . "But tell me this," John interrupted. "Do you advocate the teaching of students or the teaching of knowledge?"

Rather than start an analysis of that ancient wheeze, I just reached for another of John's gift cigars and asked about the weather on the Cote d'Azur and the cost of living along Spain's magnificent Costa Brava, subjects on which John is the expert.

SHELLING OF QUEOMY MAY BE HINT OF ATTACK

By SPENCER MOOSA

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Communist fire slackened off today after more than 12,000 shells were poured into the Nationalist-held Quemoy islands group in 24 hours, but Peiping threatened heavier bombardments to come.

The Communist ministry of national defense ordered its artillery units "to redouble their attack" on the islands just off the Chinese mainland, Peiping radio said. It claimed that heavy casualties had been inflicted on Nationalist troops in the eight-day bombardment.

Most military men on Formosa have concluded that the shelling is the prelude to a Communist attempt to capture the Quemoy group soon. The Nationalists say they're ready.

From early Friday until 2:31 a.m. today the Reds poured 12,345 shells into the islands, the Nationalist defense ministry said. Then they decreased the fire, hurling only 390 shells at the Nationalists until shortly after dawn when they switched to an occasional round of shells carrying propaganda leaflets.

Prelude To Assault

Ministry officials said the relative lull might be just a prelude to heavier bombardments. They did not consider it a sign the Reds had decided to lay off.

Rear Adm. Liu Hsiang-tu, the ministry's official spokesman, said

Today's Talk*ON RENEWING YOURSELF
We pay too little attention to the significance of renewing ourselves. Take nature. Each year
she renews her entire outer being.
Even her leaves seem to announce their long sleep as they lie taking breath from Mother Earth.
Our bodies are continually renewing themselves, and in an emergency they work fast! Millions of human beings can well testify to the miraculous cures
and new life that Nature works
when injured. We run into examples of growth and renewal all about us, and testify to them from personal experience.The most remarkable renewal process goes on in the brain. We meet companions in early youth and after many years we contact these friends again — but you say
then Oh, how you have changed!
And they always have changed.
Every one of us changes from day to day. It is good that we do.
Otherwise we might be difficult to live with.God helps people to renew themselves when they have shed ill habits and determined upon a way of life that uplifts itself rather than a way that defeats itself. The possibility for change and newness of life is ever before us. But when we resolve upon clean living, and an uplifted program of living, everything and every person seems to have changed! Perhaps they have!
We are rather ignorant of the human heart.We have our periodic times for bodily inspection, and check-up, which is wise and sensible, but we must not above the mind away in our inspections. How wonderful is the sight of a man, or woman redeemed — new thoughts, new objectives, new purposes, and new heart — everything renewed!Published, 1958, by The George

By B. F. M. MacPherson

Like most of the early churches on the frontier the first house of worship for the congregation at Great Conewago was a log structure, built sometime between 1743 and 1749. The first church, severely plain and amply uncomfortable, stood within the bounds of the present burial ground, only a short distance from the stone church of today. While the site for the log meeting house was under discussion some differences of opinion developed which caused dissent among the people. According to tradition there was a dispute as to whether the church should be built at Hunterstown or at Round Hill, a place to the north of the village. This tradition is confirmed by a minute in the records of Presbytery, which states: "A supplication from the people of Conewago was read, representing that some of their members occasion great uneasiness in the congregation, by refusing to concur with the rest in fixing the seat of their meeting-house in the place where the body of the people judge it most central and convenient. The Presbytery agree that it is most reasonable that, seeing that the body of the congregation are of one view, they may go on,
notwithstanding said members."Seek Church Site
This was in June of the year
1743. Previous to that, on April 7, 1742, at a meeting of the Presbytery held at Paxton (now Paxtang, Dauphin County, Pennsylvania), Great Conewago congregation and that of Upper Marsh Creek, asks that a committee be sent to assist them in choosing a site for their "meeting-houses." The committee appointed for that special project consisted of the Rev. Samuel Thompson, William Hoe, William Kain, and Benjamin Chambers. This group met at the house of the "Widow Jackson" on the second Tuesday of May, 1742.
They reported to the next meeting of Presbytery, that the congregations "agree that there shall be two meeting houses and that the people of Marsh Creek agree that their church be at or near Robert McPherson's Spring." The present site of Great Conewago Church was the second one chosen but,
as stated before, the dissenting members refused to accept with the verdict of Presbytery.Both sides in this dispute refused to give an inch. As a result some of the people belonging to the congregation at Great Conewago withdrew and organized a church of their own at Round Hill. After 1743 repeated petitions were sent to Presbytery for supplies at the latter place. There was a case of discipline at one time in the Round Hill Church and commissioners appeared before Presbytery and requested that some one might be sent "to hold a session"
among them and "that a number of Mr. Bay's former elders at Lower Marsh Creek might be appointed to assist." Presbytery sent the Rev. Mr. Roan, and appointed Mr. Samuel McFerren, Samuel Morrison, John Mann, and John McFerren, elders at Lower Marsh Creek, in compliance with the request.Two Churches Merge
The position of Great Conewago Presbyterian Church, midway between Round Hill and Marsh
Creek, is significant. The Round Hill people, completely ignoring the Rev. Samuel Thompson, pastor of the congregation to which they had originally belonged, secured the services of the Rev.
Robert McMordie and the Rev.Rev. James C. Watson was ordained and installed pastor of the two congregations on October 4, 1832. After a ministry of seventeen years he resigned in 1849.
At this time, by mutual agreement, since both felt able to support their own pastor, the union between Upper Marsh Creek and Great Conewago was dissolved.When the Rev. Mr. Watson came to Great Conewago Church in 1832
the Session consisted of John Duffield, Hon. Jacob Cassatt, Abram King, John Brinkerhoff, Esq., Mr.
Gregory, Robert McIlhenny, and Isaac Monfort. Peter Hulick and Robert Major were added to the Body during the ministry of Mr.
Watson.Before a new pastor was called,
after the resignation of Mr. Watson in 1849, the church was remodeled. The doors on the south side and on the ends were closed and the entrance made on the eastern front. The vestibule and choir gallery were added. The pulpit was changed from the north side to the west and altered in form. The old pulpit, which was preserved as a relic, was destroyed by the Confederates in 1863.Installed As Pastor
Rev. I. N. Hays was installed
as pastor of Great Conewago Church on October 10, 1850. During his four years in this charge he built the brick property owned by the church, and known as the Parsonage since 1914. He was also the founder of the Hunterstown Academy, which was located near the present church building. The academy structure was torn down
in 1887 and the chapel that stands next the church was constructed of the bricks salvaged from it. The Hunterstown Female Institute,
conducted in the present manse,
was also founded and conducted by Mr. Hays, assisted by his sister, Miss Jane Hays.In 1854 the Rev. Mr. Hays received a call from Middle Spring
Presbyterian Church, Cumberland County, Pennsylvania. He accepted and once again Great Conewago Church was without a pastor. This time the pulpit remained vacant until 1858.On June 6, 1857, Great Con-ewago and Lower Marsh Creek were united into one charge. The Rev. John N. Warner was called as minister of these united churches.
He was installed April 23, 1859.
In 1867 Mr. Warner resigned. Mr.
W. S. VanCleve was called January 23, 1869, and was installed in May of the same year. He served for thirty-two years. At his death in 1901, the union arrangement between Great Conewago and Lower Marsh Creek ended.These notes will be continued
next week.CALEDONIA

Doctors gave Mrs. Patrick Queen-
ey this choice:
Either permit the amputation of your 13-year-old daughter's legs or see her spend the rest of her life
in a wheel chair.
But there are things a mother
cannot decide.
"How can you make a decision
like that?" Mrs. Queeney asked.
"If I make the wrong decision,
she is the one who will suffer for the rest of her life."
So, Mrs. Queeney and her husband put it up to the child, Karleen.
The little girl knew what she wanted. She had been present when doctors at the Shrine Hospital for Crippled Children in Philadelphia first mentioned the possibility that her legs could be amputated and replaced with artificial ones.
Karleen has been in plaster casts and braces since she was 5½ months old, when a spinal abnormality left her paralyzed from the knees down.
Two operations and one treatment after another have failed to improve her condition. And three years ago she even had to take the braces off because they caused pressure sores on her feet which are still not completely healed.
"What do you want to do?" she was asked Thursday.
There was no hesitation in Karleen's answer: "I want to dance."President Leaves

Pirates Blast Braves 3-2; Los Angeles Spank Giants; Cardinals, Cincinnati Win

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer
Bob Friend finally won 18.
Dick Stuart is no flop. And the Pittsburgh Pirates? Man, they're blowin' the foam off the beer in Milwaukee.

The barreling Bucs got off running in their week-long showdown with the Braves by winning 3-2 at Milwaukee Friday night, trimming the champs' National League lead to 6½ games again. The second place Pirates trail the Braves by six games in the lost column—and they have six left to play with 'em, single games today and Sunday at Milwaukee and four in Pittsburgh next weekend.

Friend, the workhorse of the Buc staff, needed some relief help—and got plenty of it from Don Gross—at the end, but he had enough to out-duel southpaw Warren Spahn and move out all alone as the NL's top winner.

The Pirate right-hander now is 18-13. Spahn, firing for his ninth season of 20 or more victories, is 17-10.

Los Angeles knocked off third place San Francisco 4-1 and retained fourth place over the St. Louis Cardinals, who defeated the Chicago Cubs 7-5. Cincinnati rallied Philadelphia 5-3.

Friend, now 4-1 against the Braves and 2-1 in duels with Spahn, had a two-run lead and a six-hitter going into the ninth. Then Eddie Mathews belted his 28th home run and Hank Aaron, who was 4-for-4, singled. Gross, a lefty, came on, got left-handed batter Wes Covington on a double-play, and then got left-handed batter Frank Torre on a ground ball that bagged it.

Furillo, Zimmer Homer
The Dodgers handed the Giants their eighth defeat in 10 games behind the five-hit pitching of Don Drysdale and home runs by Carl Furillo and Don Zimmer. Drysdale (10-11) had a three-hit shut-out until Leon Wagner homered with two out in the eighth. Lefty Paul Giel (4-4) lost it.

Wally Moon drove in three runs for the Cards with a home run and a two-run triple while Larry Jackson won his 12th with his sixth straight complete game. Dick Drott (6-11) was the loser. Bob Purkey, the right-hander, the Pirates traded to Cincinnati for Gross last December, won his 15th, tops on the Red Sox staff, with an eight-hitter. The Reds also had eight hits, bunting four singles with a walk and an infield out for four runs in the fifth. Loser Don Cardwell (2-3) had given up just one hit 'til then.

Diplomats' Grid Prospects Bright

LANCASTER—The largest turnout in recent years is slated to greet Coach Woody Sponaugle next Tuesday, Sept. 2, when he starts his eleventh season as head football coach at Franklin and Marshall College. 52 candidates have been invited to report for the twice a day practice sessions which will continue until the start of classes Sept. 17.

Twenty-three players, including nine lettermen, will be back from the team that compiled a record of four wins, two losses and one tie in 1957.

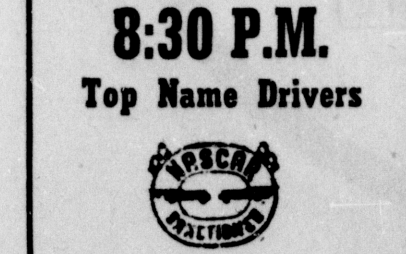

They face a line game schedule, opening at home against Dickinson on Sept. 27th, and prospects are bright that this may be one of Sponaugle's finest Diplomat teams. One new opponent has been added to this year's schedule, Washington & Lee. In addition, the Dips will be meeting Tufts for the second time, and will conclude their long series with traditional rival Gettysburg at Lancaster on November 22.

The famed Palace of Fine Arts in Mexico City is known as "the sinking opera house." Built of heavy white marble, it has sunk some 12 feet since it was built in 1904 on Mexico City's soft subsoil, a former lakebed.

Inexperienced Delone Grid Squad Faces Rugged Task; Castley Among Six Veterans

Inexperienced. This was the only way Thomas Carr, head football coach of Delone Catholic High School, could evaluate his griders for the forthcoming season.

"We are really weak on experience," Coach Carr said, "but this team has more desire than any team I have ever coached and this will make up for the lost experience." Carr went on to say that he has six returning lettermen and the team will have to be built around these boys.

Those players that Coach Carr will have to rely on are: Paul Gebhart, 6'3", 185-pound senior end; George Thomassey, 6'1", 198-pound senior tackle; Michael Staub, 5'11", 165-pound senior center; Earl Laughman, 5'10", 165-pound senior quarterback; Donald Weaver, 5'9", 165-pound senior halfback, and John Gastley, 6', 190-pound senior halfback.

Carr, like most of the coaches in this area, is having trouble with depth, both in the backfield and line but does have one consoling factor in that he can rely on the ability and spirit of five sophomores who have shown a lot since the opening day of drills two weeks ago. Dick Bollinger and Tom Keffer are looking good at the halfback slots while Jim Conrad is turning into a fine pass receiver. Fred Murren and Jim Groft are filling in well at guard and center, respectively.

Rebuilding Year
The Delone coaching staff made it clear that this is strictly a rebuilding year. They have 21 sophomores out for the team along with 18 juniors. Carr said these boys will form the nucleus for next year's squad.

On the opening day of practice, the Squires had 69 ballplayers. Letting for berths on the squad. At the present date the team has been cut to 47, which will be carried throughout the year. The Carmen have been going through double sessions for two weeks. The practice program begins each morning at 7:45 with the specialties and is then followed by stiff drills.

John T. Flaherty is again assisting Carr this season. Flaherty handles the backfield during the drills and Carr takes charge of the line. After the drills, the team runs through plays, placing a lot of emphasis on defense especially pass defense. The morning sessions conclude at 11 a.m. From 11 to 2 p.m. the team showers, eats lunch, rests and goes through skill practice.

The afternoon drills begin at 2 p.m. and finish around 6 p.m. During this period the outfit goes through light scrimmages and practicing the specialties.

Posts Wide Open
Coach Carr insisted that no one position has been won as yet. The team sizes up to something like this: Quarterbacking will be between Earl Laughman and Dave Topper with Glenn Liversberger and Cyril Weaver as underdogs. At right halfback it will be a tossup between Don Weaver, Dick Bollinger and Paul Sponseller. Left halfback will have John Gastley and Wayne Sponseller and Tom Keffer alternating. Fullback is the light position on the team with Pat Sheaffer and Cyril Hockensmith heading the field and sophomore Jim Yealey a close alternate.

Melson and R. Hankey formed the winning battery while Dorm and Maloney worked for the losers.
Jim Keffer, 6'3", 170-pound

MINNEAPOLIS DEFERS ACTION ON BOND ISSUE

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Backers of major league baseball for Minneapolis still were hopeful today for early action despite a set-back that brought delay in approval of a nine-million-dollar city bond issue to expand Metropolitan Stadium.

The Board of Estimate and Taxation Friday laid the matter over until Tuesday despite arguments that even a short delay might hamper the drive to bring the Washington Senators here.

Chet Roan, stadium manager, told the board a bid from a major league team might come this weekend and "it would be terribly embarrassing if the city can't say it's ready."

Will Study Proposal
Three of the seven board members nevertheless said they wanted more time to study the proposal despite its earlier approval in the City Council by an 11-2 ballot.

Bonds for city financing of the stadium, which was built with private funds, would not be issued unless and until a contract is signed with a major league team.

Gerald Moore, president of the Metropolitan Stadium Commission, said that group was undisturbed by failure of the Washington club's directors to act to move the team here immediately. He said the meeting in Washington Friday was just another step in the negotiations and that he had talked to Club President Calvin Griffith and knew what was going on.

Until the board's delay, no solid opposition to the bond issue had been recorded. The bond proceeds would be used mainly to expand the stadium from 21,000 seats to 41,000.

Two New Teams Select 20 Minor Leaguers For Little League In 1959

SENATORS STOP YANKEES 3 TO 0; WHITE SOX WIN

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer
"I'm worried," says Casey Stengel, and that's not quite as preposterous as it sounds.

He reportedly has another two-year contract waiting for him as manager of the New York Yankees at $90,000 a year. And he has a still breezy 10½-game lead en route to his ninth American League pennant.

But, at the moment, he doesn't have Whitey Ford.

The Yankees' stubby southpaw ace (14-7) is on the shelf with a sore arm. Ford is no loss in what's left of the AL season, but he could be a real blow in the world series.

Senators Blank Yanks
Unable to throw a curve without pain since a hurried warm-up August 10, Whitey gave his arm a test Friday night at Washington and it flunked. He faced only two men, got them out, then quit and the Senators made off with a 3-0 victory behind the six-hit pitching of Pete Ramos.

Chicago's second place White Sox picked up a game as Dick Donovan blanked Detroit 3-0 on four hits. Third place Boston whipped Baltimore 5-2. Kansas City landed a virtual tie with Cleveland for sixth by beating the Indians 8-7.

Ford, winless in two decisions and unable to complete any of four starts since his bullpen blunder, figures his arm trouble is "the same thing I usually get in spring training. I think if I get a rest for about a week, it will be all right."

With Ford forced to quit, Stengel brought Murry Dickson on in relief. The little veteran, making his debut as a Yankee after last week's purchase from Kansas City, gave up only four hits in his 5-1-3 innings.

Ramos checked the champs on two hits over the last seven innings for his third shutout in a 12-13 record.

ANDERSON EYES TENNIS TITLE

By ED CORRIGAN
FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — Modesty dictates that Mal Anderson avoid any predictions of winning the National Tennis Championship.

"But," said the tall Australian Davis Cup ace today, "I want to see the guy who is going to lick me."

The handful of spectators who showed up for the opening of the 10-day tournament in the West Side Tennis Club Friday were shocked when Anderson dropped the first set of his first-round match to Bob Perry of Los Angeles.

Once Anderson got going, Perry didn't have a chance. The final score was 4-6, 6-1, 6-2, 6-1.

There were a few minor upsets in the opening day's play. Billy Knight of England ousted Jack Frost of Monterey, Calif., one of the better young players in the U.S., 6-3, 6-3, 6-8, 4-6, 7-6. In the women's division, Jeanne Arth of St. Paul dropped fifth-seeded Janet Hopps of Seattle 1-6, 6-4, 7-5.

Hamilton Richardson, the top American seed (No. 3) advanced at the expense of Tony Vincent of New York, 6-4, 6-1, 6-1. Barry MacKay of Dayton, No. 5, the only other seeded player to see action, vanquished Jim Shakespear of Hollywood, Fla., 6-2, 6-1, 6-2.

RAMS 13 TO 10

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Doesn't matter what suit he's in, Bobby Mitchell — the ex-Illinois halfback—likes to run against the pros.

The running star for the College All-Stars against Detroit two weeks ago is keeping it up now that he's joined the Cleveland Browns. Last night, he gained 114 yards in nine first-half carries alone as the Browns snapped Los Angeles' exhibition streak at two with a 13-10 victory before 41,387 in Los Angeles.

Lou Groza's field goal with 15 seconds left decided the game but in this case it's probable Coach Paul Brown was more interested in Mitchell's performance than in Groza's patented heroics.

Lions Whip Giants
Detroit's defensive crew starred as the Lions whipped the New York Giants 26-7 before 39,090 at Detroit while a 24-point burst settled Washington's 27-7 decision over the Colts before 18,131 at Baltimore.

BUILDING AND FARM

State-wide Swine Meeting Is Scheduled For Penn State U. Sept. 5 To Discuss Problems

By FRANK S. ZETTEL
Adams County Farm Agent

A state-wide swine meeting will be held at the Pennsylvania State University on September 5 at 10 a.m. in 121 Sparks Bldg. Purpose of the meeting will be to discuss the future of Pennsylvania's swine industry. Representatives of the meat packing and feed industries will discuss their problems and how they can help promote swine in Pennsylvania. University personnel will discuss the "new look" in swine production and what producers will need in the way of buildings and equipment to modernize their swine enterprise.

The meeting is open to all persons interested in swine production, and it is hoped that those present will participate in the discussion of the future of the swine business.

In these days of automation some farmer gets the idea that production efficiency can only be had with complete mechanization of the production process. Present publicity indicates much of this type thinking surrounds farm production. This is evidenced by the much quoted remark, "My farm is just not big enough to support all the machines necessary to carry on an efficient operation."

Management Important

However, a machine operation does not necessarily mean an efficient operation. Most times the management of the machine controls the efficiency factor. Furthermore, time and motion studies often reveal avenues of efficiency far superior to that which a machine could accomplish.

Productive efficiency is more often a blend of skillful labor, management, and mechanization, rather than complete mechanization. The size of a farm should govern only the degree of mechanization, and each farm should be mechanized according to its size. That calls for specific machines that contribute most to the overall production efficiency.

The average worker now provides food and fiber for himself and 20 others. The average could be raised to 45 others with more complete application of technology, mechanization, and other resources.

Use Glass Blocks

When remodeling barns, or building milk houses, don't overlook the practical and economical aspects of this manner of admitting light into the structure. Here are some of the advantages in favor of glass block:

1. High insulating value. Moisture doesn't condense on them. This means no frosting over in the winter and no dust sticking to the glass surface. The result is more light and a window you can see through all year.

Helps Ventilation

2. Glass block is a big help to the ventilation system, for there are no cracks or open windows to cause drafts. Many cases of mastitis have been traced to faulty ventilation which may create drafts. The barn also stays cooler in the summer and warmer in the winter.

3. There is less breakage, no sash to rust or rot, and no putty to replace.

4. Glass blocks make a very attractive window in addition to being useful.

Spray Stops Wintercress

Spraying new seedlings of clover which will control wintercress is encouraged. Wintercress is a biennial or perennial of the mustard family that can reduce the legume crop next year.

Clover is resistant to MCP and immediate spraying if the grain stubbles have been clipped, or if a final cutting of hay has been made, is necessary. Alfalfa, and especially the old stands of alfalfa, are more susceptible to injury from MCP.

Spraying alfalfa after a couple of killing frosts in late October and November is recommended. The rate of spray is one pint of MCP in not over 7 gallons of water per acre. Spray in the fall when the wintercress plants are young

Farm Calendar

Cows Need Water — Dairy cows need more water per pound of body weight than other farm animals, reminds Harvey Shaffer, Penn State extension dairy specialist. Cows must have plenty of fresh, clean water for the production of milk and to maintain normal body temperature. Provide shade also to keep the cows cool.

Big Farm Meeting — The 30th annual meeting of the American Institute of Cooperation, August 24-27, on the Pennsylvania State University campus, is expected to attract 3,000 persons, including 1,200 farm youth and young farmers. It will be the largest meeting of its kind ever to be held in Pennsylvania.

Improve Legume Stands — New stands of alfalfa or red clover often can be improved by clipping the oat stubble shortly after the grain is harvested, says John Baylor, Penn State extension agronomist. Clipping gets rid of competing weeds. If weeds and stubble are heavy, they may have to be removed.

Increase Insurance — Many farmers may need to increase their insurance coverage because rising costs have made farm property more valuable. James Becker, Penn State extension farm management specialist, urges a review to see if more protection is needed.

Plant Clean Seed — Unless you are sure your grain is free from weed seeds, other crop mixtures, and diseases you better plan to buy certified seed for planting this fall instead of waiting until late spring when plants are mature.

and next spring, says Clarence Bryner, Penn State extension agronomist.

Exhibit Poultry — With county fair time just around the corner, plan now to show some poultry, suggests Harry Kauffman, Penn State extension poultry specialist.

Stiteler Quits Race, Will Support Whalley

HARRISBURG (AP) — Col. W. John Stiteler Jr., non-partisan candidate for the state Senate from Somerset County, has notified Republican State Headquarters of his withdrawal in favor of the GOP candidate.

Stiteler, a resident of Rockwood R. 3, said Thursday in a letter to George I. Bloom, Republican state chairman:

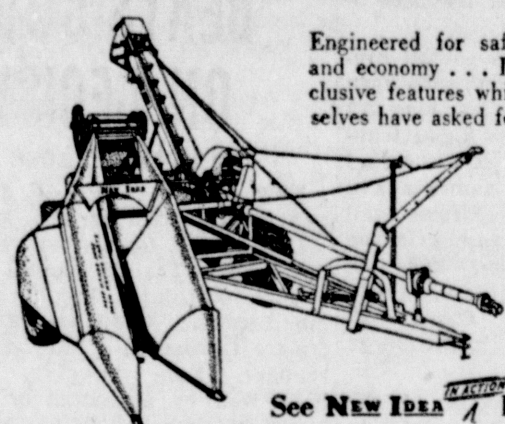

"After long and mature deliberation I have decided to withdraw my name as a candidate for the state from the 36th Senatorial District" and support the Republican candidates.

Sen. J. Irving Whalley is the Republican candidate for re-election from the district.

"Miss Pennsylvania" Not Going To Take Sacks To Atlantic City

By HERB LINNEN
BETHLEHEM, Pa. (AP)—Miss Pennsylvania's wardrobe for the Miss America pageant will be minus the sack look, but (fashion editors please note) for reasons of comfort, not style.

"I have a number of sack dresses but I'm not taking any," pretty Rosalie Samley said Friday. "They're alright but, truthfully, I feel more comfortable in something else."

Just back from a whirlwind tour of the state, Rosalie is busy with last minute preparations for the trip to Atlantic City on Monday. She will be accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Charles A. Samley, and by Mr. and Mrs. Charles McCordell of West Chester. McCordell is her manager.

Swimsuit Too
The 20-year-old Pennsylvania State University coed said her wardrobe includes three evening gowns, two cocktail dresses, four street dresses, and a white tuxedo swimsuit.

Rosalie won both the swimsuit and talent competition in the state-wide judging June 21 at West Chester. She was entered as Miss Lehigh Valley.

She will perform a ballet dance in the Atlantic City pageant, dancing to a selection by Johann Strauss. It is a Russian peasant dance, which helped her win the Pennsylvania contest two months ago.

Rosalie has amber blonde hair, brown eyes, stands 5 feet 6 inches and weighs 120 lbs. Her measurements are 36-23-36, and she has no steady boy friend.

She is a sociology major entering her junior year at Penn State. But she will interrupt her studies this fall so she can fulfill the commitments that came with the state title. She wants to be a social worker.

Rosalie will be shooting for the title last brought to Pennsylvania in 1954 by Evelyn Ay of Ephrata, who is now Mrs. Carl Sempler.

FACE TRIAL FOR SWAPPING BABY

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—A young Pennsylvania couple charged with deserting their infant son, and a Missouri man charged as an accessory, will face district court trials in connection with the alleged swapping of the couple's baby for a pickup truck.

Bound over for trials by Common Pleas Judge Lloyd H. McGuire Wednesday were Richard Readdy, 26, and his wife, Helene Margaret Readdy, 20, of Shamokin, Pa., and Jesse Burger, 42, of El Dorado Springs, Mo.

The Readdys are charged with child desertion. Burger, owner of the truck, is charged with aiding and abetting child desertion.

The charges stem from the alleged Aug. 9 swap of Burger's truck for the couple's 5-month-old son, Paul Anthony, after the Missouri man picked up the hitchhiking couple near Joplin, Mo., and took them to Tulsa.

CHINESE REDS BOMBARD ISLES

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—The Chinese Communists stepped up their artillery attack on the Tan Islands in Amoy Bay Friday, hurling a blistering 7,120 shells into the 136 Nationalist-held acres in an hour.

It was the heaviest concentration in the nearly four years of vest pocket war in the Formosa Strait.

The bombardment heightened speculation that the Communists soon would try to take the islets. Only 2½ miles from their port of Amoy, they are used by the Nationalists as lookout posts from which to alert naval forces blockading Amoy.
